Last year, the hot summer holiday between my 2nd and 3rd years studying medicine was filled with outdoor teaching sessions in a small Camberwell courtyard...the start of Youth Education Support Services.

As Mina's daughter I had a certain obligation to back her in her idea to set up a new education centre. The students were keen and arrived in increasing numbers to learn but, initially, funding was virtually non-existent. My optimism at this point, perhaps a little disloyally, was not high. How wr
